The pleasant weather that we have been favored with is almost compensation enough for the discomforts of last year's imitation of summer.

When President Loubet of France and King Edward VII of England parted recently it was Loubet who removed his hat and Edward who kept his on his head. Both hats on or both hats off would have appeared better.

A religious theatre is the means by which Herbert Booth of New York expects to reach the "unreached masses" of people, and he expects to do it by way of the eye. It's dollars to doughnuts that any "nigger" show will beat him out at his own game.

It is a strange condition of affairs when less than 50 voters assemble at a city meeting which has been called to expend the city's money, and, too, after the meeting had been legally called and advertised. That was, however, the condition at the city meeting last evening. The citizens displayed too much apathy. To be sure there was no promise of fireworks and other pyrotechnic display, no shooting stars, no scintillating constellations. And even there was little promise of administering the usual drubbing to the license commissioners. But for all that, the voters ought to have attended the meeting and, by so doing, have displayed their interest in civic affairs. There is no fault to be found with the business transacted, but there is with the ridiculously small number of voters that transacted it.

While you are hunting around Vermont for a capable lieutenant governor don't lose sight of the fact that soon a vice president of the United States will have to be chosen. Recent events have shown how necessary it is to select a capable man for that position. During the past 65 years no less than five vice presidents have been unexpectedly called to the chair of the chief executive of the country. It is thus highly imperative that a man be chosen who, in the case of emergencies, would be able to assume the duties of president. Fortunately for the United States, when President McKinley received the assassin's bullet at Buffalo, we had for vice president a man who, although of an entirely different stamp and temperament, was nevertheless able to take up the reins of the government where they were dropped by his predecessor. Had Theodore Roosevelt been a second or third rate man he would have succeeded to the presidency just the same. Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst of New York calls the accession of Roosevelt to the presidency of the United States a huge accident. And so it was. No one, at the time of Roosevelt's election as vice president, considered the possibility of the events which followed soon after. But the events came and the vice president became president. The peculiar trend of events may in the future bring a vice president unexpectedly to the higher office, so it behooves the citizens of the country to choose wisely whom they will have for vice president, and not make it a hit or miss affair.

As Tuesday evening's local train pulled out of the Northfield station, Fred, otherwise known as "Tamer" Wilder, who stood upon the station platform in a partial state of intoxication, attempted to board the second car and was snatched back against the side of the car, dropping to the ground between the moving train and the station platform, a space of about eighteen inches. He attempted to rise and would have been knocked under the the cars by the steps of the cars had it not been for the presence of mind of J. L. Burnham of Milton, Mass., a traveling salesman for a jewelry house, who seeing Wilder's danger, dropped his grips and sprang upon Wilder, holding him down until the danger was past.

A May Morning.
What magic dews are these that make Sweet melody at dawn
And stir the dewy leaves to shake Their silver on the lawn?

What miracle of music wrought In shadowed groves is this?
All ecstasy of sound up caught, Song's apotheosis!

The dreaming lilies lift their heads To listen and grow wiser;
The fragrant roses from their beds In sudden beauty rise.

Enraptured, on the eastern hill A moment lingers the sun,
Day breaks, and all again is still; The thrushes' song is done!

FURNISHING GOODS, SHOES, etc., that can be found in this county. Sad to say, about seven weeks ago we were awakened by the sound of the fire alarm and soon found that our store, then known as the UNION CLOTHING STORE, situated in the Carrier Building, was on fire, and despite every effort to save our stock of goods they all went up in smoke. But we determined to reopen as soon as circumstances would allow, and we have spared no time, money or labor in securing another store. We have succeeded in leasing this store for a term of years, and have made many alterations and repairs on the same to make it suitable for our business. We now have a store that is inviting to all visitors and the buying public.

We Have Risen Again From the Ashes

In greater strength and determination than ever, and we will open for business on SATURDAY, MAY 9th, at 8 A. M., when we will welcome you all to our new store and will be pleased to see all our old friends and many new ones, whether you buy or not.

It will be our policy, as heretofore, to carry the best of everything in our line for everybody and at all times of the year, and all goods will be sold at reasonable prices. We will guarantee everything we sell and your money back if goods are not found to be as represented. All goods will be marked in plain figures. One price and equal treatment to all, and it will be our aim to make this store the leading establishment of its kind in the county. We have engaged a number of our old clerks and added several new ones, who will be pleased at all times to serve you in a polite and satisfactory manner.

You are respectfully invited to be present, with your friends and neighbors, at our Opening on SATURDAY, MAY 9th, and freely examine our new store and stock of merchandise.

Thanking you all for past favors bestowed upon us, and hoping to be favored in the future with your early and repeated calls and to receive a share of your patronage, we remain Yours as ever,
